CONSTANT PAIN AFTER EATING

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Corrected by "Fruit-a-tives"

St. Martin's
"For two years, I suffered tortures from Severe Dyspepsia. I had constant pains after eating; pains down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth. I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives' (or Fruit Laxer Tablets) I began to improve and this medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

'AVENGE LUSITANIA,' APPEAL TO BRITONS UPON ANNIVERSARY

Destroy Evil Spirits That Planned Crime, Baron Rhondha Pleads.

LONDON, May 7.—The Lusitania anniversary is commemorated by the newspapers to-day with big captions and special articles recalling the crime which the British public is not likely to forget.

The Daily Graphic, in an editorial, laments that the public apparently is becoming dulled to the horror of the Lusitania atrocity. It asks why there is not a commemorative procession this year as there was last year. If there is not, it asks, will its absence not be proof of the extent to which Germany's many crimes against humanity have deadened the world's sense of tenderness? It adds:

"It is because the torpedoing of the Lusitania summed up in one cold-blooded act the savage ruthlessness of the German race that the anniversary of that foul deed should be celebrated when every other commemoration is forgotten."

"Germany has not changed since."

then," says the Daily Mail. "That is the important thing for all of us to remember. The 'repentant' Germany of which our pacifists prattle simply does not exist. She still glories in the sinking of the Lusitania and the butchery of women and children, and will repeat that and every other atrocity again at the first profitable opportunity."

"That is only one of one hundred reasons that the war must go on until she is hammered into sanity." Baron Rhondha, the food controller, who, with Lady Mackworth, his daughter, was aboard the Lusitania when she was torpedoed, has sent the following message to the National War Savings Committee:

"To-day is the third anniversary of the sinking of the Lusitania. Many events and many emotions have come upon us since then. One's memory is laden with incidents that have stirred the surprise and anger of the civilized world. It still will keep in remembrance the tragedy of the Lusitania, a tragedy enacted by an Emperor and a people who flung to the winds all restraint of honor and chivalry. The Kaiser will be known in time to come as the Herod of the twentieth century who caused Rachel to weep for her children."

"Worse even than the sinking of the vessel was the sinister way in which it was planned and the shouts of exultation that afterward swept through Germany. A medal was struck—a medal in commemoration of a crime. To rejoice in doing evil is surely the depth of degradation. The sinking of the Lusitania made the world see plainly the inherent criminality of its foe. On the brow of Prussia was the mark of the beast."

"You will recall your first emotions on the news of the sinking of the Lusitania. Germany has not changed since. Let us not relax our efforts until we have destroyed the evil spirits who planned and rejoiced in such a crime."

THIS IS THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF LUSITANIA SINKING

Memorial Service at Trinity and War Rally at Carnegie Hall Mark Date.

Three years ago to-day the Lusitania of the Cunard line was sunk by a German submarine off the coast of Ireland, 1,216 persons being lost, 156 of them children and babies. Among the 120 Americans who perished were Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Charles Frohman and Edith Hubbard.

Meetings are to be held to-day to remind the American people of the kind of foe they are fighting and spur them on to greater determination to win the war. The largest will be the Win the War meeting at Carnegie Hall to-night, at which Col. Roosevelt will be the principal speaker. It was arranged by the American Defense Society.

There is to be also a memorial service in Trinity Church at 4 P. M. to-day, under the joint auspices of the American Rights League and the American Defense Society. The Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector, will deliver an address and a full choir will participate in the service.

Cables announce there will be special prayers in many English churches, and at American naval detachments will take part in memorial services in the Lusitania Cemetery at Queenstown.

ANNA HELD IS BETTER.

But Doctor Says Hard Pressure of "Finger Could Crush Bones."

been much stronger and is improving rapidly, yesterday's bulletin from Dr. Donald McCaskey announced. Her pain continues severe, however, and the physician said her bones are so fragile from the disease of multiple myeloma that a hard pressure of the finger would "crush them like powder."

The actress was able to take solid food yesterday and has enjoyed several ounces of scraped raw tenderloin of beef. She slept well and displayed renewed vitality when awake, talking as much as her doctors would permit.
